B. & M. OFFICE
FOR BYRNESMr. Mellen Makes Him Vice President

WILL BE IN DIRECT CHARGE

New Official Is a Native of Bellows Falls—He Has Had an Extensive Railroad Experience.

Boston, Sept. 23.—Timothy E. Byrnes, formerly vice president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was appointed to the same position on the Boston & Maine railroad yesterday by Charles S. Mellen, the acting president of the latter road.

Mr. Byrnes will have his office in this city.

It was some time ago stated that Mr. Byrnes would assume direct control of the affairs of the Boston & Maine, and the position to which he has been appointed, it is believed, makes him the direct executive head of the corporation.

Mr. Mellen, of course, would constitute the court of last resort in all matters requiring the intervention of such a tribunal but Mr. Byrnes will undoubtedly have the actual management of the road.

Last week, Mr. Byrnes denied that he was to assume control of the Boston & Maine and it is to be presumed that he did not then know that he was slated for the position.

Mr. Byrnes was born in Bellows Falls, Vt., Nov. 22, 1853, but went West as a young man and was educated at the University of Minnesota, subsequently taking the full course at the Columbia law school. Practicing law in Minneapolis from 1881 to 1892, he was special counsel for the Great Northern, the Soo and the Northern Pacific from 1892 to 1898, when he became special assistant to the president of the Northern Pacific, in which capacity he continued to 1906. In that year he was elected vice president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, the position he now holds.

Great Struggles Expected When Cubs Meet the Athletics In the World's Series

By TOMMY CLARK.
PRACTICALLY every manager, player, writer—in fact, every man who knows or imagines he knows anything about the national game—has picked a winner in the world's series, which is to be played with the Philadelphia and Chicago teams as the contenders for the title. Every one has his reasons for thinking either the National league or American league champions will win. The majority of the National league fans naturally name the Cubs, while

TWO OF PHILADELPHIA'S SHINING LIGHTS. American leaguers, man to man, will advertise the Athletics as the one best bet.

Baseball is such an uncertain game that it is always hard to dope out a winner. And a short series—the world series will be ended when one team wins four games—is practically the same as one game. By that I mean that the manager who uses the best judgment in the selection of his pitchers and who has the best break of what is known as "baseball luck" may upset all the dope which the experts have so industriously ground out.

Strong Points of Cubs and the Athletics.

Each club has its strong points. The game and aggressive Chicagoans are the greatest baseball machine in the game's history. In baseball brains the team has no superiors. The catching staff is the best in the country. Then the Cubs have the courage born of confidence. They have been winners in the world's series and feel like winners. This habit of thought will be a powerful factor in their favor. In the estimate of baseball men Connie Mack has a peerless pitching staff, and he has just the right combination of veterans and new bloods to make his machine dangerous.

In tackling the Athletics the Cubs will meet an evenly balanced team, speedy runners, strong in fielding and batting and with one of the best pitching staffs that has ever landed a pennant for a club in either league. In the Cubs the Athletics will face a team that has been credited with being the brainiest set of players ever seen together on one team, a club that has always been among the topmost in batting, fielding and base running and the strongest defensive combination in either league.

Cubs Have Strongest Catching Department.

Behind the bat the Cubs loom up considerably more prominently than the American leaguers. Kling and Archer are rated as the best pair of catchers in the game. Mack's young backstop Lapp has come up fast, but he has yet to prove that he has the generalship and executive to execute the owner of. Kling is an expert in every particular, keen, cool and calculating, quick to discover the weakness of an opponent and to act accordingly. If Lapp, Thomas or Livingston proves a surprise by holding up his end with the National leaguers' backstops he also will prove the man of the hour and increase the Athletics' chances immensely.

Philadelphia Has the Greater Pitching Staff.

Coombs, Bender, Plank and Morgan have pitched more consistently than any four twisters the Cubs can show, and if pitching is to tell the tale the Athletics will take the field well equipped. With their experience, steadiness,

KILL EACH OTHER IN DUEL.

physiques and "stuff on the ball," the Athletics' staff has done better work day in and day out than the Cubs' staff.

Chance's probable gunners will be Brown, Pfeister, Cole and Reulbach. Brown isn't as good as he once was and has been hammered freely several times this year. The edge in pitching is with the Philadelphians.

Infielders of Two Clubs Are of Stonewall Variety.

Both have crack infielders. Chance, Evers, Tinker and Steinfeldt form a tried and reliable quartet that was good enough to pilot Chicago to two world's championships and four pennants. In fielding, batting and generalship the four men are superb. The Athletics' infield is not as old as Chicago's, but the four men have been associated with each other long enough to work together with precision and harmony. It is a wonderful infield in every way, the very best in the American league.

Now let's look 'em over. Chance is a better fielder than Davis, but at that there are few that have anything on the Philadelphia first baseman. At second both teams have stars, Evers and Collins being the twinklers. The latter will outthit the Trojan, or at least ought to do so, and probably will field just as well as the boot and shoe merchant from Troy. At short the Cubs have the advantage. Tinker is Barry's superior as a fielder and as a long hitter, but the Holy Cross boy is a clever performer nevertheless and in a short series might play every bit as well as Evers' side partner.

Baker of the Athletics is Steinfeldt's superior both in batting and fielding. The Marylander is much younger than his Chicago rival, and youth must be served. Baker is not the finished fielder that Steinfeldt is, but turns more sensational plays. Baker is a terribly hard hitter and is more likely to break up a game than is the Texan.

Cubs' Outfield Superior to the Athletics'.

The Chicago outfield is superior to the Philadelphia suburban trio. Lord isn't as scientific a hitter as Sheikard, doesn't cover as much ground and isn't so good a thrower. Hofman in center is the best center fielder in the game today. He is a splendid thrower, and his speed and certainty on fly balls make him a treasure at cutting off long hits. He is a better all around fielder than Oldring, but the latter is no slouch in any respect and will come nearer to the Hofman standard than Lord will to the Sheikard standard. Schulte grades right up with Hofman and Sheikard, is a faster and more finished outer picket than Murphy, but no more dangerous with the bat. The Chicago trio are the better base runners.

In leadership of the two teams there is no apparent advantage one way or the other. Mack possesses quite as much acumen as Chance.

The only one big advantage the Athletics have over the Cubs is in the pitching department. The Chicago team has the better backstops, their infield has a shade on the Philadelphia quartet, and the Cubs' suburban trio outclass the Mack men. The Chicago twirling staff is not weak by any means, and no doubt Manager Chance will have his pitchers in fine fettle by the time the series starts so they will be able to twirl first class ball. Considering that the Cubs have these three great advantages over the Athletics, also figuring, too, that they have been so long together that in harmony of effort and mutual understanding they are the smoothest working baseball machine in the country, they should win the series from Philadelphia.

THE MAINE
DEEP IN MUD

Report of Army Officer Sent to Investigate

A HASTY EXAMINATION

The Cuban Government Anxious to Cooperate—Floating Plant Offered by the Public Works Department.

Washington, Sept. 23.—That the raising of the Maine is a task calculated to tax the abilities of the ablest engineers, and one that might cost a large sum of money, is apparent from the statement of Colonel William M. Black of the army engineer corps, that the keel of the ill-fated vessel is embedded in the mud in Havana harbor to a depth of from eight to ten feet. Colonel Black was sent to Havana by the war department with Captain M. R. Ferguson of the engineer corps to make a preliminary examination of the condition of the wreck. He has just submitted his report to General Bixby, chief of engineers. In the first place he found the Cuban government exceedingly anxious to assist him. Senior Canguilly, the secretary of state, Senor Chalmers, the secretary of public works, and President Gomez himself all earnestly expressed the desire that they placed at Colonel Black's disposition the floating plant and personnel of the department of public works, turned over the Cuban reservation in Casa Blanca for use as a storage plant for materials and assigned Senior Manuel Lombillo-Clark, a capable engineer in charge of harbor works, to assist the American engineers. Free entry of wrecking material and plant was also granted. After some hasty soundings around the wreck, Colonel Black returned to the United States on the 12th instant, leaving Captain Ferguson to study the condition of the Maine and the adjacent bottom of the harbor.

"UNCLE JOE" SPURNS STAGE.

Turns Down Offer of $3,000 a Week for Vandeville Turn.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 23.—Speaker Cannon is not going to elevate the vaudeville stage for $3,000 a week or any other amount. The speaker said so himself.

When Mr. Cannon returned home from Illinois county, a telegram dated at Toledo, Ohio, was handed to him. It made him an offer to go on the stage and made a few remarks about the insurgents.

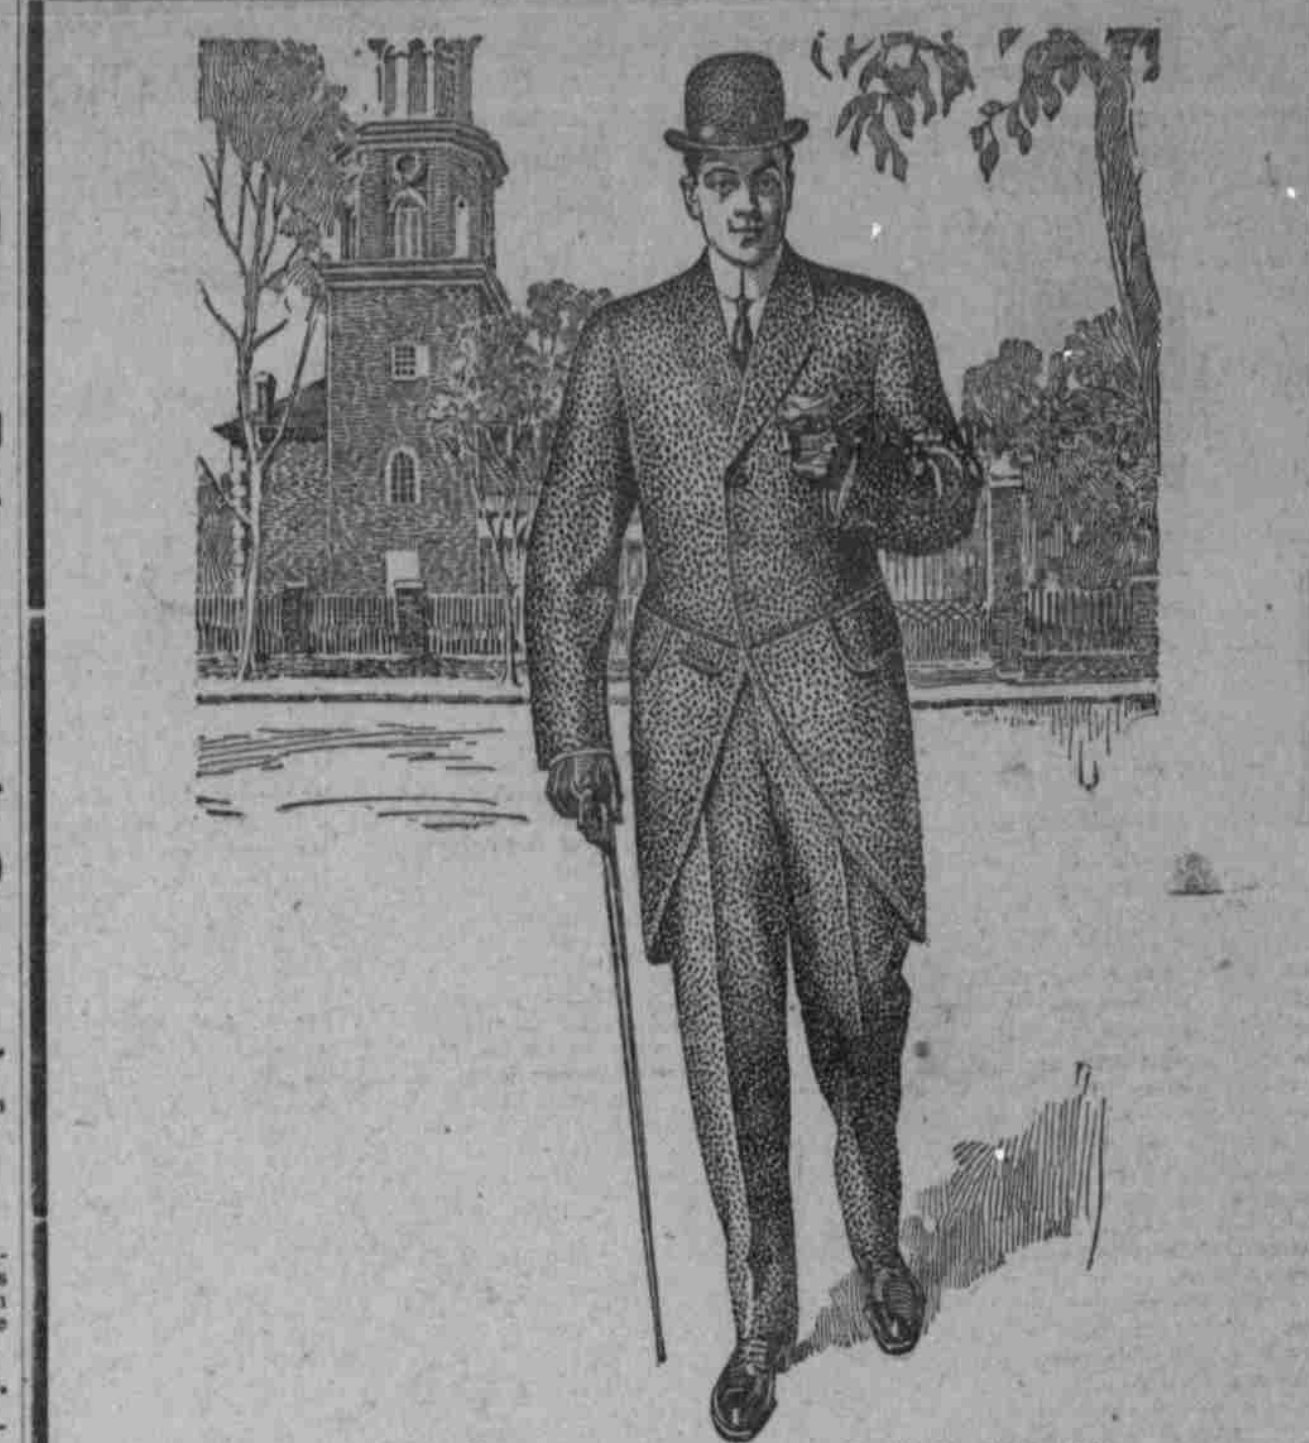

"Oh, ————! Somebody is trying to get some free advertising, or some faker is at work. I did receive a telegram from Toledo, but as it was unsigned I threw it into the waste basket. That's all I know about it."

How to Stop Drinking

It was formerly customary for the habitual drinker to take the pledge regularly, sometimes once a year, and sometimes in every fit of remorse that followed his debauches, and then—break it.

But now it is gradually dawning on the world that pledges do not stop drunkenness. The nervous system of the habitual drinker is diseased, and he must have treatment that will cure this condition. Orlene is sold under a positive guarantee to cure the drink habit or the money will be refunded. Can be given secretly.

DUMMY DIRECTOR UPHELD.

Has Same Rights as Another, Declares New York Court.

New York, Sept. 23.—That a dummy director is more than a figurehead Judge Whitney decided in the supreme court when he granted a mandamus directing William and Edward Davidson, who own the business of Bonwit Bros., to let Edward A. Stuffer examine the books.

The Davidsons objected on the ground that he was a mere employee and had been discharged. They said he was made a director for convenience only, and did not own any of the stock. Judge Whitney said that Mr. Stuffer had a right to examine the books.

"The theory is that the corporation is a partnership," the court said, "and that Stuffer, who had no pecuniary interest in a mere dummy put forward so as to have the three directors required by law. He is the means whereby, without benefit to him, the other directors may escape liability in business."

The court said that the third director was equal in all respects so far as the law is concerned to the other directors and had all the rights that they have, including the right to examine the books.

DEATH OF REGENT OF PERSIA.

Azad-ul-Mulk was head of the well-known Kadjari family.

The New England states have evidenced small interest in the postal bank system.

LORIMER COMMITTEE MEETS.

Senator Attends Session With Attorney Haneey, Who Argues for Delay.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—After hearing arguments for and against a postponement of the Lorimer investigation until after the November election, the senatorial committee adjourned until to-day without deciding any of the questions presented to it.

The plea for a postponement of the hearing was made by Attorney Elbridge Haneey, counsel for Senator Lorimer, and was based on the assertion that to continue the hearing while two criminal cases are pending involving similar subjects would be unfair to Senator Lorimer, who wishes to call the defendant minority leader, Lee O'Neil Browne, and State Senator John Broderick as witnesses before the committee.

Attorney Clifford L. Barnes of the Legislative Voters' league, opposed the continuance, declaring that the senatorial committee has a solemn duty to perform to help "purge the state of its disgrace."

Finally chairman Burrows, a senator from Michigan, requested Attorney Haneey to file a formal application in support of his motion for a continuance.

Attorney Barnes asked leave to file with the committee a counter argument, why the hearing should proceed, and his request was granted. The greater part of the session was taken up with the statement of Attorney Haneey, who, while he was detailing incidents of the two trials of Lee O'Neil Browne, was requested by Senator Burrows to be more specific in his argument and to confine it to matters which would "bear directly on the motion for a continuance."
